Dear Friend of the Environment,

A Frog House is excited to announce a Nature Symposium on April 25 to celebrate Save The Frogs Day, Earth Day, and Arbor Day in Pittsford Village - a day-long event from 10 am through the afternoon.

We're seeking leaders in the climate movement to participate in a panel discussion for adults and older youth about flora, fauna, and sustainability in a time of rapid extinctions due to climate change. Here are some possible topics, all modifiable to suit your skills and passions:

- The contributions of NGOs such as Sierra Club to the importance of, threats to and rescue of frogs, raptors and other life forms
- Sustainable proactive conservation the Native American way
- The importance of native planting and removing invasive species
- What we must do about climate and its effect on life
- The essential role of environmental education for people of all ages
- The interaction between social and environmental justice
- Faith-based efforts to be good stewards of the earth
- Zero waste management and consulting
- Ecological design and gardening
- Regenerative design, permaculture, and edible forest gardening
- Nonviolent, compassionate communication as a component of environmental progress
- Good bugs, bad bugs, and bees

Please let me know by February 12 if you would like to contribute your expertise on any of these topics to this first Pittsford talk, how you would like to modify the subject, or if you have another proposal. Details about the day will be updated on A-Frog-House.com., our website. (You may need the password afh).

If you would like to contribute to my blog on that site, with a general synopsis of your content, approach, materials and expertise, I would welcome a few hundred words and a photo sent to mlfassmd@gmail.com.

Thank you so much for your interest.

Honoring Life One Frog at a Time,
Margot Fass
